(An Editorial)

Inadequate is the one word which can express the need for a bigger and better Santa Ana Junior college.

Laboratory facilities, classrooms, office space, library and study rooms, social centers, are the outstanding examples of inadequacy here.

Ventura will soon vote on a bond issue for a new junior college.

A student union is proposed for Long Beach Junior college in the near future.

An auditorium which will represent a total outlay of $400,000 will soon be under construction at Chaffey jaysee.

AND—

Our up-county educational institution, Fullerton J. C. has not been allowing grass to grow under its feet:

The Hornet college has by foresight gone ahead step by step to develop a fine, adequate, and attractive campus.

At present $47,000 is being expended for landscape work alone. Fullerton Junior college, for these reasons, has lured an enrollment approximating a thousand. And the city and community has profited appreciably by it.

Meanwhile, poor, meek Davie Don sits in his corner—weeping and bemoaning the fact he hasn't room enough in which to move around.

He sees the need. He sees that students are required to take their lives in their hands every time they cross Main street between classes.

He sees those cramped quarters in the Board of Education building, the INADEQUATE bungalows, some of the ill-equipped laboratories, the small library, meager (Continued on Editorial Page)

Lounge Damage Totals $75

With the statement that "actions unbecoming of students in college are responsible for my decision," Calvin C. Flint, dean of men, today revealed his reason for closing the Men's lounge indefinitely.

According to reports from Charles Milner, custodian, damages to the men's lounge include a broken window, two broken chairs, defacement of chairs and tables, and several uncontracted wall portraits.

Out of an investment estimated at $250, there is a loss of at least $75, he disclosed.

"It is unfortunate that all of the male students must suffer because of the conduct of a few," the men's dean said, "but there is no way we can determine who are the guilty parties. Accordingly we must deprive the deserving students of this comfort to show them the necessity of protecting school property by reporting pupils who indulge in barbaristic destruction."

What? No "King's Day"? Yes, Not This Year; Oh, Maybe Next?

"King's Day," that eight-hour period of celebration when retiring Associated Student President Al Pickhardt was to rule students and faculty with an iron hand, will not be held this year, declared administration officials today.

Inaugurated here in 1926 when John H. McCoy, present journalism director, was the first "King for a Day," the custom has been observed since on numerous occasions. Last year Vic Rowland reigned as "King" at the conclusion of his term.

TALK O' THE TOWN

A Preview of Fashions

By RUTH LIGGETT

THE BACHELOR'S BALL is one of the biggest social events of the year, so naturally every girl who is planning to attend is looking forward to selecting a glamorous new evening dress.

At Ronsholdts', located in the Santora building at Second and Broadway I found such a beautiful array of new spring formals, that I have decided to describe two of their most outstanding creations.

A peach colored net with its enchanting low neck and ruffled puffed sleeves, seems to revive the regal colonial period. The hem line of the full skirt matches the neck and sleeves in having many ruffles. A blue ribbon of chiffon velvet encircles the waist.

Flowered taffeta, which is so popular for evening dresses of this season, is made into another enchanting formal with off the shoulder puffed sleeves and wide circular skirt. For a belt, the same material is made into a clever braid. Shop at Ronsholt's for your formals.

AS FOR A NECKLACE THAT IS SMART, nothing could be more charming than the gold sun-burst pendant, shown at Rankin's at Fourth and Sycamore streets. Varicolored stones form the clasp and pendant, which are held in place by a triple gold chain. The stones in this necklace are of pastel shades. Triple strand bracelets are made to match.

THE ULTIMATE DESIRE of every girl is to be surrounded by luxury. A luxury is not necessarily something far beyond one's reach, but may be defined in simpler terms as things you like, but do not necessarily have to have.

Corsages in some instances may come under this category, but when speaking in terms of formal dances they are a necessity as far as custom is concerned.

The Bouquet Shop, 409 North Broadway, is famous for its fresh flowers, which are choice in perfection. The attendants will be glad to advise you as to the kind of flowers to purchase for different occasions. True beauty has no price.

AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE that stockings are made only for beauty and cannot be expected to last through more than a couple of rinses, are the stockings manufactured by the Palm Hosiery Mill, 224 North Broadway. Though durability is their key note, their loveliness is brought out in their sheerness and trim fit.

In the new spring shades the Palm Hosiery Mill is offering you a wide variety of colors. Tropic tan, Exotique, Plaze beige, and Stroller are the shades that seem to be particularly in demand for early spring wear.

ORIGINALITY IS STRESSED in the stylish spring sweaters that have just arrived at the LaGrace Shop, 413 North Sycamore street. In all the pastel hues these sweaters are designed with short sleeves and are made on different patterns.

When selecting a sweater, it is also nice to buy a scarf that harmonizes with it. Scarfs in floral designs and solid colors are shown at this same store.

Spanish belts are outstanding this year.

The LaGrace Shop is showing both of the types that are so popular at the present time. One has six small Spanish scenes strung on leather and tying in front. The second type is plain leather with different colored streamers.

Watch Talk of the Town each week for previews of the latest fashions. (Adv.)

TRICKEY'S TRIPE

LARRY TRICKEY

With all this hubbub going on concerning the possibility of Bill Cook moving into the position of "ex" Oliver's successor at Arizana university, a minor detail seems to have slipped right by us. And yet it is a very important item in jaysee athletics.

Who would take Cook's place if he should move up?

Possibly the foremost candidate for head coach here would be Johnny Ward of Tustin high. One of the closest friends of that Cook, he has consistently turned out better than average grid teams on meager material. Certainly is the outstanding basketball coach in the county.

Another of Cook's best friends Johnny Ward of Garden Grove. The football men he has coached soundly based in fundamentals. They are ready for college football and he has sent plenty of all-inference material over here. Ward is also a fine track coach.

"Stew" White of Orange is another possibility, as is Dick Glover of Anaheim. Both excellent coaches, they may however consider their present positions more advantageous in the long run. Both have turned out more than his share of championship teams.

Curt Youel, now coach of Santa Ana jaysee, would like the "job" then and if. So would Al Reboin of Huntington Beach high. Both are still young in the coaching game, but are doing surprisingly well.

And then of course we mustn't forget Blanch Beatty. He has had a lot to do with producing the wonderful Don championship eleven the past two years.

Well, there are a few possibilities. Keep these men in your mind. The list may contain the name of the next Santa Ana jaysee football coach—that is, when and if Bill Cook moves on up the ladder.

Tennis Season Opens Feb. 24

With tennis season scheduled to open Feb. 24 with a practice match against Compton jaysee, Carl Aubrey, team manager, today issued a call to all net aspirants to turn out for the court sport.

"The more athletes out for tennis, the greater chance we will have for victory in conference play," Aubrey said.

Arrangements have been made whereby jaysee tennis players may use Willard Junior high school courts after 4:30 on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

Sixteen players have signified their intention of turning out for the coming season of play. They are: Dick Harbottle, Merle Griset, Carroll Richardson, Charles Mueller, Jack Brounink, Bill Keeton, Bill Hill, Bob Mize, Roy Potter, Hugh Plumb, Richard Coleman, Deane Hart, Royal Donan, Bob Haight, Paul Wolven and Don Megers.

"Any player not in this list may challenge any player now on the list if he wishes," Aubrey said.

Late Entrants Give Hopes

Describing jaysee tracksters as "potential conference champions" and terming cinder prospects as "rosy to the fourth degree," Capt. Blas Mercurio today expressed his confidence in a team strengthened by several previously "doubtful starters."

Mercurio's optimism was the direct result of the enrollment in junior college of Gil Baker, Los Angeles negro ex-prep champion in the quarter-mile jaunt, and Grover "Lil' Abner" Miller, former Orange high school discus-heaver.

RAIN HINDERS

Somewhat handicapped by recent rains which has made it impossible to work out the squad, has had to bide its time before settling down to earnest practice.

"Mid-term entrants from Santa Ana high school will help team strength considerably," Mercurio said.

Mid-semester enrollees include: Jimmy Johnson, hurdler; Herschel Whitney, distance runner; Harry Adams, dash man; and Jim Elliott, half-miler.

Local Grid-Greats Careers Are Followed With Interest

BY OTTO HUBER

"And departing leave behind them cleat prints in the sand of Santa Ana's Municipal bowl."

Recalling the various athletically prominent names during this past football season, it will be interesting to note what these grid-greats are doing now and how many are still enrolled at jaysee.

There are various and sundry reasons for this situation, namely,

Trobabes Vanquish Don Quintet

Suffering from a bad attack of stage fright, Coach Blanchard Beatty's stalwart Don quintet suffered a 57-25 defeat at the hands of the U.S.C. Frosh basketballers.

The massacre took place in the Los Angeles Pan-Pacific auditorium last Friday night as a prelude to the U.S.C.-Stanford varsity thriller.

The locals succeeded in bucketing only six points the first half, allowing the Frosh to pile up a 35-6 lead. In the second half, the Dons came back to hold their opponents 22-19.

Those who have remained in school are: Blas Mercurio, Captain Erwin Youel, Capt-elect John Joseph, Merle Griset, Bill Wilson, Danny Boyd, Larry Timken, Bill Semnacher, Charles Mueller, Chuck Stafford, Bill McNeil, Dave Phoenix, and Joe Crawford.

It has been proved by statistics that, from a roster of 50 football men in college, approximately 25 per cent will drop out of school after football season.

In view of the facts mentioned above, the local junior college seems to be consistent with other colleges. But the boys will all be back in the fall, tra la! I betcha!

Robinson, Clinton Get Post Prizes

Joseph Langland prizes for the best poems to appear in last month's issue of Tavern Post were voted by the members of Tavern Tattlers this week to Elizabeth Robinson and Margaret Clinton.

Miss Robinson was awarded a copy of the "Oxford Book of English Verse" for her poem, "Good Father Time." Miss Clinton's "Dreams" was honored by a copy of the "Collected Poems" of Sara Teasdale.

Mr. Langland, Spring Grove, Minn., jaysee alumnus, who offers the prizes, writes that he secured his first encouragement to write when he had his verse published in the jaysee literary magazine.

"I know now how important the first small encouragement is," he said, "and I hope that all those who feel a sincere urge for literary expression may at least realize some satisfaction. That, I feel, is the highest function of the Post and a noble excuse for existing."

Ruggers Face Gaucho Team

Coach Ernest "Sir Reginald" Butterworth's Don rugby squad entrains for Santa Barbara this afternoon where tonight they clash with the powerful Santa Barbara State ruggers.

The two squads played to a 3-3 tie earlier in the season in the Municipal bowl, and the Dons will be out to redeem themselves at the expense of the Gauchos. Santa Barbara will not be caught napping, however, for on their own turf, the Staters have proven a formidable foe.

The Gauchos have in their lineup two "Little All Americans" from their 1937 football equad. In the initial game, it was the playing of Howard Yeager, that cost the Dons a win.

"We are making the trip with half a dozen men who have never played before, inasmuch as several first-stringers were unable to go," Coach Butterworth stated, "and consequently we cannot expect to play our best game."

Playday at Long Beach, Feb. 26

With a practice game with Fullerton Wednesday afternoon and another planned for next week, girls hockey players are getting down to serious workouts before playday, scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 26, at Long Beach. Other junior colleges to be represented at the playday are Fullerton, Compton and Long Beach.

Tennis playday will be held at the same time and place.

Although the teams for both sports have not been named, they week, Coach Zena Leck stated.

The following girls are reported out for the teams, and selections for both tennis and hockey will be made from this list.

Helen Lowe, Anita Force, Margie Brown, Ruth Lehnhardt, Mary Henderson, Irene McFarland, Elaine McReynolds, Thelma Marks, Jean Russick, Irene Noble, Mary Ann Low, Marjorie Schmidt, Elizabeth Welch, Peggy Paxton, Dorothy Schroeder, Roberta Nichols, and Anne Wetherell.

Cy Lievermann Is High Scorer In Easy Victory

Santa Ana's rejuvenated Dons overpowered a fighting but helpless Owl quintet 61-31 last night in a battle which was hard fought most of the way, despite the topheavy score. The game-at-eight engagement was kept at the Tustin high school gym.

Close guarding and an offense to match gave the red-clad powerhouse an early lead which they retained throughout the game. The score stood 11-0 at the quarter, and 27-14 at the half.

Cy Lievermann, tall Don center grabbed high-scoring honors by annexing 21 points. This betters his 19-point record set at La Verne. Chuck Hall, Santa Ana forward, was next with 14 markers. Kish, of Citrus was high for the visitors with 12.

Led by Ernie Poore and Kish, the plucky Owls rallied in the second quarter to hold the Dons on even terms. Poore went out on fouls in the third period, and crippled the visitors' team, which had only two reserves.

Art Heinisch, Minnesota transfer, turned in a sparkling game as well as sinking 10 points in the mesh. Don Randall, Don guard went out from injuries received in a pile-up. Coach Beatty sent in his reserves in an effort to stem the tide, but the scrappy second-stringers more than held their own.

Last night's struggle marked the sixth consecutive defeat on the part of the Owls who occupy the conference cellar. Mentor Al Claves' Owls started Poore and Embree at forwards, and Joyce at center flanked by Walters and Weides, guards. The only Citrus subs were Kish and Smith.

ARE WE SO HELPLESS?

office facilities, and ill-ventilated classrooms. Moreover, he realizes that we have to trek to Willard Junior High school for an auditorium, and to the Santa Ana YMCA for a gymnasium.

While Davie Don sits and sees this panorama before him, he also notices some other important things:

The enrollment here remains about the same from year to year; no new homes are established here by parents of students who would normally reside here.

And again, he is reminded that the imposing sight of a REAL college campus is lacking. Visitors to the community surely must wonder, Davie thinks.

Well, what is all this leading up to? Just this—

Each individual who is interested the least bit should do his part, however small, to spread the gospel of the great need for a new Santa Ana Junior college campus.

Each individual should acquaint those who are not intimately informed, as to the conditions here. By merely showing a genuine interest, and knowing the facts as they exist, a world of good can be accomplished.

Are we going to sit, and sit, and sit? Or are we going to get up to do something?—The Editor.

Still Our Hero

"First in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen" rings familiar as the immortal epitaph dedicated to George Washington whose birthday we observe next Tuesday.

But it required strict and severe discipline, sternness, and executive ability to place him in the honored niche of fame—hero of American independence and first president of the United States.

Yet it was because he yielded to the solicitations of the people that he even served a second term. Perhaps it was a precedent which Washington started, but his positively declining a third reelection resulted because he yearned for a quiet country life.

However, if he had been needed, Washington would willingly have offered his services. As it was, when his country called he readily accepted executive military duties before a treaty of peace made his services unnecessary.—D. W.

Are You Charitable?

Charity begins at home and so should safety!

Although no serious accidents have happened at junior college, jaysee still has its few reckless drivers. If these few are to continue driving as they do, here or elsewhere, they are not only endangering their lives but lives of others.

Let's cooperate with the nation-wide safety drive by driving carefully. Remember this—if you're in an accident because of having driven carelessly, you won't be worth the pavement you're "printed" on!—J. G.

Tell Facts About Life Of President HONOR WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY

On Tuesday, Feb. 22, the 206th anniversary of the birth of George Washington will be feted all over the United States for the man who was "the father of his country."

Yet had it not been for two important historical incidents, the birth of Washington would have been on Feb. 11, and he would have been a commander on an English sloop during the American revolution.

A revision of the old style Julian calendar moved Feb. 11 to 22, hence his birthday was primarily 7 days ago from this issue of El Don.

In 1765, Washington was offered an appointment in the British navy by Admiral Vernon, English commander, which he refused. If he had accepted this appointment, he would have been a commander of a British sloop, instead of being the leader for the American revolutionists and the United States might have remained under England's rule.

Washington was a large man who stood 6 feet 3 inches tall. He was extremely vigorous, a picture of health, but as a parallel to his fame, he had a meagre education. And yet, his keen intellect has been their country. Many of his personal characteristics have been popularized into a code of ethics. For instance, truth symbolized by the cherry-tree incident.

One European historian recently stated that if the United States never produces any other outstanding personality, it will always be known as the home of George Washington.

His name is known all over the world. Many countries, when they have an outstanding leader, call him the George Washington of handed down to several generations of diplomats in his and our present

Paper Gives Clue TRACES CHUM

After 13 years—from a pal in the second grade here in Santa Ana to orchestra leader at the University of Mississippi!

Until a few days ago Vic Rowland, sophomore, hadn't seen or heard of Creath Speer since the days when they used to chum together, have clod fights, shoot marbles, fly kites, and strip the Speers' trees of their fruit back in the pair's early school days at Lincoln grammar school—in 1925.

Although he admitted there was nothing particularly astounding in Speer's becoming a baton waver, Rowland assured that it was a genuine surprise to see his former chum's picture and name staring him in the face after not knowing of his whereabouts for nearly 13 years.

The discovery was made as Rowland was going through the regular weekly stack of El Don's 200 exchange papers, just before his recent retirement as editor of the campus weekly. When he came to Mississippi university's Mississippi he gave it the same general scanning the other papers received—until he turned to an inside page to discover the three-column layout revealing the latest venture of his former schoolboy pal.

Collection Shown In Library DISPLAY MINERALS

Displaying minerals which represent the deposits that exist in the various countries of the world, Miss Lillian Dickson, librarian, revealed today that the library exhibit is popular with students who are interested in the uniqueness of this showing.

Placer gold, agate, flint, garnet, sphur, labradorite, cinnabar, and azurite are the minerals which are shown, attached to the individual stones are cards which inform the pupil from which country the mineral comes.

Roy Seamans and Dave Phoenix, junior students, conceived the idea of the exhibit, and from the reception given date by the students, it has proved a popular one, the librarian disclosed.

"Some of the minerals are the personal property of H. A. Scott, instructor of geology, which he has collected in his numerous field trips, and these, together with the efforts of Seamans and Phoenix, make the collection and interesting one," Miss Dickson stated.

A particularly interesting object in the display is the placer gold which is found abundantly in California, but which is secured under unusual circumstances, disclosed.—HAROLD BARRETT.

Tritt Tells Of Arabia SAILS PUT ON CARS

(This is the second in a series of articles telling of Bill Tritt's world cruise.)

Leaving London, the young globe-crawler visited Glasgow, Scotland, by rail before taking a channel boat for Hamburg, Germany.

"An amusing incident occurred on the ship between Hamburg and Lisbon, Portugal," he laughed, "when the captain of the freighter became seasick and did not recover until we had sighted the port of Lisbon."

After taking on some tin scraps from Lisbon sardine canneries, the boat rounded the Rock of Gibraltar to suddenly see a but let Tritt tell it:

"About dusk, we steamed through the Strait of Gibraltar, which is only about eight or ten miles wide. All at once we saw a puff of smoke and heard a detonation from a British warship about a quarter of a mile from us. It had fired on a Greek ship which was carrying arms and ammunition to Spanish fighters!"

The freighter, after traveling nearly 2000 miles around the Spanish coast stopped at Marseille, France, long enough for Tritt to note that "it was a dirty seaport, but pretty in a French way."

At Port Said, which is at the head of the Suez canal, the young traveller left the ship and, instead of passing through the canal, went around it. On the way, here again Tritt's descriptions are superior:

"We motored across part of the Arabian desert in a small motor car, going most of the time 50 and 60 miles an hour, over roadless desert land. To add to that, the tires on the car were almost worn through when we started, and the driver didn't believe in slowing down at the turns or when going through the few small towns that we encountered."

"In that part of the desert, winds are put to advantage. No more humorous sight can be imagined than that of a motor car scooting across the desert, driven by a large sail."

"In Port Sudan, a small stopping-place near the Red Sea, some natives objected when I attempted to take a snapshot of a wrinkled old native woman."

"When they backed up their objection with long, shiny knives, I realized that the meant business, and lost no time in getting out of that quarter."—CARROLL RICHARDSON.

Change Styles POCKETLESS PANTS

Promising to bring a new era into the world of tailoring, an announcement that men's suits will be tailored without watch pockets this season has been received.

Lack of explanation for the watch-pocketless pants leaves the question wide open for conjecture.

Or is it merely a purposeful oversight on the part of the tailors who, burdened by long years of stitching small stitches in small pockets, now rebel and content themselves with sewing large stitches in large pockets?

Whatever it may be—unions, lobbyists, or rebelling tailors, the fact remains that modern man must carry his timepiece on his wrist, on his lapel, or around his neck, anywhere but the so-convenient watch pocket.
